ABOUT THE PITTSBURGH BUSINESS ETHICS AWARDS

The Society of Financial Service Professionals is proud to present the Ninth Pittsburgh Business Ethics Award. This award is designed to honor U.S. companies that demonstrate a firm commitment to ethical practices in their everyday operations, philosophies and in response to crises and challenges. This is the ninth year that the award will be presented locally.

The Pittsburgh Chapter of the Society of Financial Services Professionals, along with the David Berg Center for Ethics and Leadership at the University of Pittsburgh, annually serve as hosts for the region's American Business Ethics Awards - recently recognized as the finest regional award for this honor in the country. The center provides the judging for this event, visiting the finalist companies, and assembling the final judging committee.

Finalists for the Pittsburgh Business Ethics Awards are chosen through nomination and overall reputation and are evaluated on such criteria as demonstration of executive commitment to business ethics, clear communication of ethical standards to employees, consistently high quality of products and services, and a commitment to community and charitable involvement.

Three separate awards are presented based on the size of the companies and the number of employees. Winners in each category locally go on to compete for national American Business Ethics Awards presented by the Society of Financial Service Professionals.

For more information, please visit the Society's website at www.pittsburghfsp.org or the national website at www.financialpro.org.
